

Marie Louise Cochrane Storyteller

Telling stories and singing songs to entertain, educate and inspire

What kind of stories do I tell?

Traditional Scottish stories and songs, multi-cultural tales, fairy tales, family, faith and food tales.

Where do I tell them?

Everywhere! In parks, museums, castles, mines, pubs, libraries, at parties and ceilidhs and...

At festivals including: The Scottish Storytelling Festival, Edinburgh Book Festival, The Gathering, and Parents Like Us Festival

At food events and festivals with my food and family tales.

At Scottish themed events with my lively traditional stories.

In care settings including Royal Edinburgh and Infirmary Hospitals and regular sessions in Care Homes and Day Centres with older people.

At community events and churches with my stories of faith and wisdom

In Schools and nurseries with engaging sessions covering a wide-range of themes.

My specialities include 'Mrs Mash' and 'Gulliver's Chums'

'Mrs. Mash the Storytelling Cook': stories and songs for young children that encourage healthy living and a love of good food.

'Gulliver's Chums': Stories, songs and puppet fun for emotional wellbeing for children up to 7 (including those with additional support needs).
